

Misuse of Todd's Name and Brand Identity

Todd occasionally becomes aware of fraudulent websites, third-party applications (Apps), and instant messaging chat groups (e.g. WhatsApp, Telegram, WeChat) that are purported to be run by Todd or are impersonating our firm. These illegal schemes usually use the name and/or trademarks of our company without our authorization to induce people to join a chat group or visit a website that is then used to defraud them.

The purpose of this notice is to alert the public to the nature of these fraudulent schemes and to warn the public that these third-party schemes are illegal and not authorized by Todd. Todd is not in any way associated with these fraudulent and illegal schemes.

Todd, its affiliates and employees do not offer management advice or make management recommendations to the general public and do not participate in social media or messaging groups that do so. Todd does not have any mobile applications or official channels on Apps including WeChat, Telegram or WhatsApp.

You should not provide any personal details, complete any subscription forms, or make any payments to any entity that purports to be run by Todd or appears to be impersonating Todd. Communications with Todd should only be through the official channels or platforms.

When we learn about fraudulent schemes, while we may consider taking appropriate action including, but not limited to, working with law enforcement to shut down the fraudulent schemes, we do not (i) undertake any responsibility to you to take such action or to inform or update you on any such steps taken, or (ii) accept any liability for any direct, indirect, incidental, or consequential loss or damage arising out of or in connection with any reliance on us to address a misuse of our name(s) and brand(s).

If you encounter or suspect any activity involving fraudulent websites, Apps or social media accounts in the name of or claiming to be related to Todd; or receive emails, text messages or phone calls from Todd that you are uncertain about or which you believe to be fraudulent, please contact us at <https://todd.com/contact>.
